Enabling your commercial success:
global exclusive API

Your trusted partner in TIDES

Are you developing a niche therapy or launching a blockbuster drug? No matter what your plans are, Bachem is your partner of choice in the TIDES industry, tailoring our solutions to meet your needs.

TIDES long-standing expertise

With decades-long experience in manufacturing of peptides and oligonucleotides, our motivation lies in supporting innovative treatments to reach patients worldwide.

Global strength - Local excellence

Bachem's global network of sites is built for scale, speed, and quality. We're expanding to meet growing global demand with bold investments in large-scale production.

Advanced technologies - Innovation at scale

Our sites are equipped with systems that enable high-volume GMP manufacturing with precision and efficiency. Innovative technologies for the synthesis and purification of TIDES ensure robust scalability, consistent quality, and streamlined production.

Sustainability embedded

We are committed to responsible growth, integrating sustainable practices across all operations, towards our employees, the society and the environment.

Dedicated to your success

To support the complex large-scale requirements of late-phase and commercial exclusive products, we've established the Global Exclusive APIs (GEA) team - because your success is our mission.

Our team is here for your project

Our GEA team is an integral part of our organization and dedicated to supporting the CMO business with precision, agility, and deep expertise.

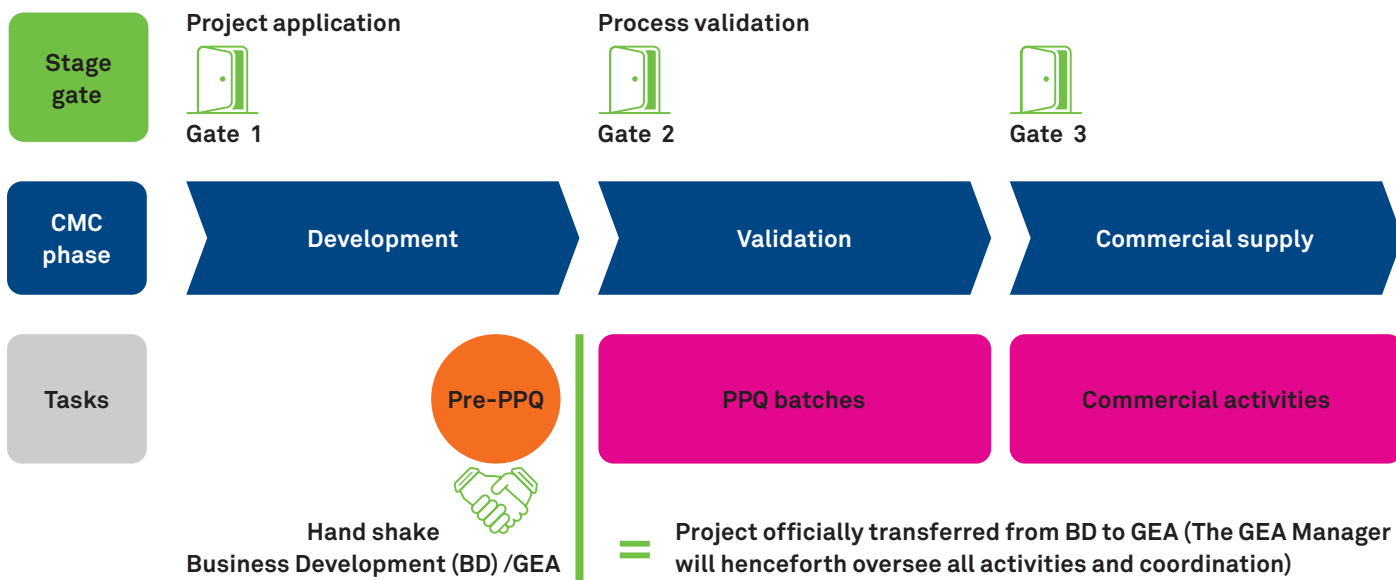

From product launch to commercial supply, GEA offers a single point of contact, ensuring seamless communication and long-term strategic partnership.

GEA can support you in introducing the latest technologies combined with proven know-how to elevate your project to the next level.

With a strong track record in managing high-volume APIs and complex transitions, GEA is your trusted ally for navigating late-phase and commercial challenges.

Transparency, innovation, and long-term success are at the heart of everything we do
